Because Hon. A. T. Wood was... able to accept the Battleship... commissionership, the Governor... appointed Mr. R. H. Winn in his...
stead. We take it that this was a... less appointment, because the...
family are no second fiddlers... and among as it does, is anything... but a compliment. They wear... honors strictly on merit.

Henry Watterson credits him-...

sponge, admitting the organizers...
to have been out on a fools errand... and while they claimed to be loyal...
Democrats, they contributed to... the cause of the Republican party...
In brief, the...
honestest confession, lacking in...
manner: The complete surrender.

The Campton Banner used considerable space in its last issue in... urging the claims of our distin... guished orator, the Hon. H. B. Kinsolving, for Congress in this... the 10th district. The Banner be... lieves in nominating and electing... men who are Congressmen the... moment they are elected. That is... they are prepared to enter at once... upon the duties of the position. Our... people sometimes do elect a man...
totally destitute of the knowl...

Congress and when his term of... two years has expired he finds... he is just ready to enter on active... work, that is if he has been any...

President's Message.
On another page we print Pres... ident McKinley's message. If our...
President is a great man, this... message is a weak production of...
a great man. On the money ques...

Our...

Saturday evening a "social" was... arranged for the purpose of raising... money. The affair went forward... beautifully and those who had the... matter in charge were much... pleased with their success, until a... crowd of young hoodlums from... another neighborhood came in...
and began to show off their accom... plishments, which consisted of pro... fanity and vulgarity. They were... requested to be orderly in the... church house and in the presence... of ladies. They were too far gone... under the influence of liquor to... have any regard for anything, and...
only became the more boisterous...
Finally it became necessary to...
eject them forcibly from the church... which was accomplished after sev... eral knock down blows had been... administered. It is said that John... and Volney Henry deserve special... mention for the courage with...
which they handled the toughs...
Young bloods who imagine they... are running the universe, need to...
be taught a severe lesson. The... law protecting religious services... will be enforced. Warrants are... in the hands of officers and the... young men will have to answer in...

Toll Gate Raiders.
We had hoped that such un... lawfulness would not be credited... to Montgomery county, but we... have it. It is no fault of the court... and its committees, for they had...
done all they could to perfect a... deal and open the gates. We think... a good price had been offered for...
the pikes, but they are the property... of the stockholders and they had...
a right to reject our propositions...
The raiders had no right to open... gates, to deter employees from... their duty of toll collecting, or to... destroy property. There is a... law against such outrages and...
all outlaws deserve to be punished...
Men pay their taxes and the right... of protection is due them.

The man or set of men who will... destroy property, if not now, will...
be led to highway robbery, and...
this is only one step behind rape... and murder. Men of such... report must be punished. We are...
for the county owning the roads...
and opening the gates, but there... is a way to do it—it is plain—and...
those in authority are taking the...
needed steps.

A Neglected Cold

It closes the lungs with mucus. It... gives strength to the lungs by...

supplying the blood with fat-forming...

Their meeting occurs under felicitous conditions justifying sincere congratulation and calling for our grateful acknowledgement to a beneficent Providence.

A matter of genuine satisfaction is the growing feeling of fraternal regard and unification of all sections of our country, the incompleteness of which has too long delayed realisation of the highest blessings of the Union. The public questions which now most engross us are lifted far above either partisanship, prejudice or former sectional differences. They affect every part of our common country alike.

The work of putting our finances upon a sound basis, difficult as it may seem, will be accomplished sooner when we recall the financial cooperation of the government since 1890. On the 30th day of June of that year we had outstanding demand liabilities in the sum of $729,908,447.41. On the 1st of January, 1879, these liabilities had been reduced to $443,580,405.83.

of treasury on the 1st day of December, 1897, was $447,305,629. The government money now outstanding (Dec. 1) consists of $340,181,016 of United States notes, $107,793,283 of treasury notes issued by authority of act of 1890, $894,963,504 of silver certificates and $61,280,701 of standard silver dollars.

The brief review of what was accomplished from the close of the war to 1893 makes unreasonable and groundless any distrust either of our financial ability or soundness; while the situation from 1893 to 1897 must

There are many plans proposed as a remedy for the evil. Before we can find the true remedy we must appreciate the real evil. The evil of the present system is found in the great cost to the people of the

The Cuban Question.

The most important problem with which this government is now called upon to deal pertaining to its foreign relations concerns its duty toward Spain and the Cuban insurrection.

The story of Cuba for many years has been one of unrest; growing discontent; an effort toward a larger enjoyment of liberty and self

The prospect from time to time that the weakness of Spain's hold upon the island and the political vicissitudes and embroilments of the home government might and to the transfer of Cuba to a continental power called forth, between 1823 and 1890 various emphatic declarations of the policy of the United States to permit no disturbance of Cuba's connection with Spain unless in the direction of independence or acquisition by the United States through purchase.

The revolution which began in 1895 lasted for ten years, despite the strenuous efforts of the successive peninsular governments to suppress it.

The overtures made by General Grant were refused and the war dragged on, enrolling great loss of life and treasure and increased injury to American interests besides growing enhanced burdens of neutrality upon this government.

The Present Insurrection.

The present insurrection broke out in February, 1865. The revolt and the efforts to subvert its control have been the destruction to every master of the island, defying the efforts of Spain for its suppression. The civilized side of war has been disregarded, and by the Spaniards than by the Cubans.

 The existing conditions cannot but fill the government and the American people with the gravest apprehension. There is no share on the part of our people to profit the misfortunes of Spain. We have only a desire to see the Cubans prosperous and contented, enjoying that measure of self-government which is the inalienable right of

The offer made by my predecessor in April, 1895, tendering the friendly offices of this government, failed. Then only could this act in the promised direction of her motion and after her own plans.

The brutal policy of concentration was instituted Feb. 14, 1895. The productive districts controlled by the Spanish armies were depopulated. The agricultural inhabitants were brought in the garrison towns, their lands laid waste. This policy the late chief of Spain justified as a necessary measure of war and as a means of saving the directed him to impress upon that principle the sincere wish of the United States to lend its aid toward the ending of the war in Cuba by reaching a peaceful lasting result, just and honorable alike to Cuba and to the Cuban people.

declared that the present Spanish government is bound by every consideration of change of policy that should satisfy United States and pacify Cuba within a reasonable time. To this end Spain has decided to put into effect the political reforms heretofore advocated by the present government, without halting for any consideration of the path which in his judgment leads to peace.

It is said, and I believe true, but will he humane and conduct all regard for private rights, being established by political action leading to autonomy of Cuba while guarding Spanish sovereignty. This, it is claimed, will be in investing Cuba with a distinct nationality: the island to be governed by executive and a local council or chamber reserving to Spain the control of the foreign relations, the army and navy, and war by proposing a rational compromise between the contestants, and intervention in favor of one or the other party.

Belligerent Rights Discussed.

Recognition of the belligerency of the Cuban insurgents has often been canvassed as a possible if not inevitable step both in regard to the previous 10 years' struggle and during the present war.

I am not unmindful that the two honest of congress in the spring of 1896 expressed the opinion by concurrent resolution that a condition of public war existed requiring or justifying the recognition of a state of belligerency in Cuba, and during the extra session the senate voted a joint resolution of like import, which, however, was not brought to a vote in the house of representatives.

live branch. It behooves the executive to soberly consider the conditions under which so important a measure must needs rest for justification.

It is to be seriously considered whether the Cuban Insurrection possesses beyond dispute the attributes of statehood which alone can demand the recognition of belligerency in its favor.

Possession, in short, of the essential qualifications of, such

The wise utterances of President Grant in his memorable message of Dec. 7, 1875, are significant and pertinent to the present situation in Cuba. (President McKinley has quoted it.)

Continuing, President McKinley says: Turning to the practical aspects of a recognition of belligerency and reviewing its inconveniences and positive dangers, still further pertinent considerations appear. In the code of nations there is no such thing as a unilateral recognition of belligerency accompanied by the consequent functional neutrality. The assumption of impartiality is not the assumption of non-partisanship. Such recognition without more will not confer upon either party to a domestic conflict a status not theretofore actually possessed or affect the relation of either party to other states. The act of recognition usually takes the form of a solemn proclamation of neutrality which recites the de facto condition of belligerency as its motive.

It announces a domestic law of neutrality to the declaring state. It summons the United States no jurisdiction between Spain and the insurgents. It would give the United States no right of intervention to Insurgents Not Recognized.

For these reasons I regard the recognition of the belligerency of the Cuban insurgents as now unwise and therefore inadvisable. Should that step hereafter be deemed wise as a measure of right and duty, the executive will take it. Intervention upon humanitarian grounds has been frequently suggested and has not led to receive my most active and earnest consideration.

But should such a step be now taken when it is apparent that a hopeful change has intervened in the policy of Spain toward Cuba? A new government has taken office in the mother country. It is pledged to advance to the declaration that all the wars in the world cannot suffice to maintain peace in Cuba by the bayonet; that it promises of reform after subjugation and no solution of the problem.

Under the new military commander a broad clemency is professed. Measures have already been set on foot to relieve the horrors of starvation.

not to protect the resumption of agricultural pursuits.

Fair Chance For Spain.

The president then reviews the progress of the Cuban discussion as far as it has gone, and says that he is honestly due to Spain and friendly relations with Spain that would be given a reasonable chance for execution.

FORCED TO DO IT!

Our Misfortune The People's CHANCE!

We are compelled to reduce our immense stock and as quickly as possible. The season wanes; it is now too late for us to cling to the thought of being able to accomplish our ideas in our usual form of business, hence we resort to heroic measures and name prices below on the finest and most complete stock of CLOTHING, BOOTS, SHOES, HATS, CAPS, FURNISHINGS ever shown in Eastern Kentucky. You may ask yourself the question, "Is this right? Why should they name such prices right here in the middle of winter?" This will tell you quick and to the point without varying from the truth, which is the corner stone of our business: We bought heavy, in fact too heavy. While our business has been simply immense, (and some stores would have been jubilant at half of it,) still it has not been such as we prepared for. The drouth and unseasonable weather has forced us one month behind consequently we resort to price and leave the balance for the good people, whom we have always been liberal and truthful with, to decide whether we are the leaders of high quality and low prices or not. SLEEPS AT NIGHT.

A Tree in Washington Which is Something of a Curiosity.

Near the western border of Dupont circle stands a tree that has a privilege not accorded other shade trees of Washington. Nature has endowed it with what we mortals consider a very happy faculty—namely, to enjoy a peaceful slumber every night. Many shrubs and numerous species of flowers have a tendency to rest, either by day or night—at least that is what we guess from the changed attitude of their leaves and petals—but this big fellow, who goes to sleep at a regular hour every evening and in summer time even by daylight right before our eyes and in a public park, has a method quite his own in preparing himself for the night. His action is so apparent, quiet and curious that it deserves to be noticed—in fact, it is somewhat to be wondered at that nobody ever noticed of this stranger and his strange action before, not even the very alert watchman and guardian of the floral display of the park.

That this tree is of foreign extraction and of high lineage there will be no need of telling when we learn that his name is Albizzia julibrissin, having been christened so by an Italian botanist by the name of Durazno in honor of a friend who was the most noble family of the Albizzi of Florence, who probably had also been a botanist. The tree, however, is a native of Japan and known there as the Japanese silk tree. Why it is called a silk tree is not known to the writer, but the supposition is that the silky appearance of the blossoms might have originated it. How this tree came here and found its way to Dupont circle probably only Colonel Bingham, as possessor of the public parks and grounds and custodian of the records and pedigrees of our exotic trees, can tell.

Soon after 7 o'clock in the evening a general motion is noticed in the foliage, a quiver or trembling of the bipinnate leaves. Each leaflet begins to stand up on edge and pairs with the one opposite. They clasp each other tightly and then close up with the other on the outside, so that the tree becomes a covert over half of the preceding one. The entire transformation takes place in about 20 minutes, and usually at 7:30 the respiratory organism of this tree hangs limp or droopy on the branches. It was at first supposed that the approach of darkness or the humidity of the atmosphere or even the change of temperature had something to do in producing a sleeplike condition in this tree, but numerous experiments have proved that it is not so. Little branches have been taken off and kept in a dark room at an early hour. The leaves remained expanded for an hour or more, when they began to close as if they were still on the tree, and the same action was repeated for several days as long as water could keep them fresh. There is a plant among our moderns that is in every particular like this sleeping tree—in fact, a diminutive Albizzia in many ways. This is the sensitive pea, Cassia coccinea, a weed growing along our country lanes with yellow flowers and bearing a fruit of distinctive shape. This little weed is, however, a sensitive plant, while the tree is not so in the least. The former shrubs its leaflets when touched at any hour of the day, but at night goes to sleep in the same fashion as the latter—Washington Star.

Gov. Bradley refused to pardon J. K. Williams, a Bourbon negro who is serving a life term for murdering a man then chewing his ear off at North Middletown in 1884. Williams was sentenced to hang on January 4th, 1885, but the sentence was committed to life imprisonment. While in the Paris jail Williams had a fight with a fellow prisoner, and almost chewed his lip off.

Willing to Go to Congress.

C. J. Bronston is willing to represent the Ashland district in Congress. He seems an intelligent for the valuable service he has rendered his party in the past two years. He is distributing circular letters asking expressions from his constituency. The present Congressman, Mr. Settle, will no doubt ask to be returned.

Constipation

Obtains fully half the sickness in the world. It causes the digested food too long in the bowels and produces biliousness, torpid liver, indigestion, sick headache, etc.

Hood's Pills are the best remedy for constipation and all its attendant troubles. They are gentle, and do not injure the system. Prepared by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass. The only Pills to take with Hood's Nerve-Pain-Expeller.

Are You Nervous?

Mrs. C. C. Filler, 1864 South Fourth street, Columbus, O., writes to Dr. Hartman of Columbus, O., as follows: "For ten or fifteen years I have been subject to nervous dyspepsia. I would have spells of quivering in my stomach, with smothering feelings. My nerves were terribly debilitated. I was suffering from what was called nervous prostration. My stomach felt bloated, and I was constantly weak and trembling. I consulted several physicians who treated me without doing any good. I had almost given up in despair when I heard of Peruna. It was six years ago that I first took Peruna. I found it an immediate relief for all my disagreeable symptoms. It is the only medicine that has been of any use to me." Mrs. Lucie Waldo, Olds Lake, Michigan, Box 67, writes: "For three years I have suffered with catarrhal dyspepsia. I wrote to you for advice and you told me to use your medicines. It has been ten months since I began the use of your medicines and I am perfectly well. I think your medicines deserving of much praise."

Send for Dr. Hartman's latest book on "Winter Catarrh." Address your letter to Columbus, Ohio.

Puny Children

Who would prescribe only tonics and bitters for a weak, puny child? His muscles and nerves are so thoroughly exhausted that they cannot be whipped into activity. The child needs food; a blood-making, nerve-strengthening and muscle-building food.

Scott's Emulsion

Of Cod-Liver Oil is all of this, and you still have a tonic in the hypophosphites of lime and iodine to act with the food. For thin and delicate children there is no remedy superior to it in the world. It means growth, strength, plumpness and comfort to them. Be sure you get SCOTT'S Emulsion.

SPANISH OFFICIALS

Pleased With President McKinley's Message.

Madrid, Dec. 8.—The El Imparcial publishes 7,000 copies, giving the whole text of that part of the message referring to Spain.

"The friendliness of the message surpasses the most sanguine expectations of the friends of the Government. There is loud praise for President McKinley in official and political circles for having, as they say, thus cleared the way for a fair trial of the new colony policy in the West Indies, which will naturally require time measures.

The Spanish Liberals are particularly pleased with the President's arguments against the recognition of the belligerency of the Cubans and the implicit repudiation of recognition of belligerency, annexation of the island or extreme interference of the rights of Spain in Cuba.

They are equally delighted with that part of the message recognizing how quickly and completely they have reversed the Canovas-Weyler policy, and the sincerity of their own home race measures. Outside of official circles satisfaction is very visible, in financial circles and also of the general public. Among statesmen the most pleased is Castelar, who compares the conduct of McKinley with that of Grant, and says that he believes firmly that all of the same and respectable elements of the American Commonwealth will follow suit."

MAGNETIC KISSING TUNNEL.

Curiosity Which is the Pride of McDowell County, W. Va.

McDowell county, W. Va., is the proud possessor of a magnetic kissing tunnel which may yet become more famous than the blarney stone of the Emerald Isle. This modern wonder is a tunnel on the Norfolk & Western railway, between Roderfield and Halvill. It is cut through solid rock, which is highly charged with magnetism, and it is said as an actual fact that love-lack lads and lasses, old bachelors and old maids, and married folks who have become estranged, when passing through this tunnel find that they cannot resist the peculiar magnetic influence, and repeatedly participate in osculatory exercise.

Dean Vaughan.

In speaking of the late Dean Vaughan of Landaff The World of London says: "Mrs. Vaughan is probably the only person now living who could disclose the number of bachelors which her husband refused between 1855 and 1863. Lord Palmerston is said to have at one time advised Dr. Vaughan to marry, which became vacant, the prince and the prince consort were most anxious that he should accept a bishopric, and so also were divines of such very different church views as Archbishops Sumner, Longley and Tait, Bishops Wilberforce, Longdale and Hamilton, and Deans Milman, Wellesley and Stanley."
